End User accounts may not be shared by individuals. Customer controls access to and use of the Products by End Users. Customer is responsible for End Users' use.
- 1.3. Product changes. Bria has the right to make technical changes to the Products if such changes do not materially lessen the Product's functionality.

- 1.6. Reservation of rights. Products are protected by copyright and other intellectual property laws and international treaties. Bria reserves all rights not expressly granted in this Agreement, and no rights are granted or implied by waiver or estoppel.

2. Bria's Protective Measures

- 2.1. Data Safety Measures. Bria implements a three-tiered data protection system consisting of (a) Training data set protection, ensuring that its Products are trained exclusively on data sets that are free from inappropriate content or NSFW material; (b) Negative prompt controls, allowing Customer to use 'negative prompts' to restrict any unwanted and specific content from being generated as part of an Output; and (c) Transparency, by marking Outputs as "generated content" with the C2PA standard, and applying Bria's attribution engine, providing the ability to trace back any contribution origin within its dataset.
- 2.2. Input/Output Safeguards. Bria maintains (a) Input blacklisting, aiming to filter use of inappropriate Input by a Product's user; (b) Filtering methods that may be enabled or disabled by Customer via API to filter adult content, gross content and violence references from both Input and Output; (c) Screening of biased Outputs in terms of gender, age and ethnicity; and (d) Output content moderation allowing Customer to turn on extra content moderation such that no external Input will mistakenly affect the Output.
- 2.3. Notwithstanding the above mentioned in this Section 2, while Bria implements the protective measures detailed above to prevent unwanted Output, Customer acknowledges that no technology solution can guarantee 100% effectiveness in preventing all unwanted or inappropriate Output. These protective measures represent Bria's good faith efforts to maintain content safety and security.

3. Customer use of Output

- 3.1. IP assignment of Output. Subject to the terms of this Agreement, Bria hereby assigns to Customer all its right, title and interest, if any, in and to any Output together with any and all intellectual property rights embedded in or related to such Output. Given the characteristics of the Products and its technology, which is based on artificial intelligence, any Output provided to Customer may not be exclusive and/or unique, and it is possible that other Bria customers might generate outputs similar to any Output generated by the Customer. In any such event, the rights granted above do not apply to any Output generated for other Bria customers.
- 3.2. Rights to Customer Content. Customer retains all rights to Customer Content. Customer Content may be transmitted to Bria to generate Output. Customer gives Bria a nonexclusive and limited license to store, access and use the Customer Content as reasonably required for the performance and enhancement of the Products for Customer's use only. Bria hereby warrants that Customer Content shall not be used to train generative models, unless Customer expressly consents to such training in writing. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event Customer has subscribed to any Product that explicitly requires fine-tuning and/or training of any model using Customer Content, and Customer has provided the same, Customer shall be deemed to have provided express written consent to such fine-tuning and/or training. By providing any Customer Content to Bria, Customer represents and warrants that it has all necessary rights to use such Customer Content for the intended purposes and that Customer owns or has properly licensed such Customer Content
- 3.3. Use restrictions. Customer may not (a) use, sell, license or distribute pre-generated images created as Output, in any form of image repository, library, or bank for the purpose of search, preview, and download by end users, or (b) use or permit the use of any Output or any part thereof for the training of any generative model. For clarity, Customer and its End Users may use Output for internal analysis, research purposes that do not result in one or more of the above restricted outcomes.
- 3.4. Content Guidelines. Customer's, its End Users and/or customers' use of a Product, or any Customer product and/or service incorporating any Product, is subject to the Content Guidelines. To that end, Customer undertakes to include the Content Guidelines or substantially similar guidelines in its terms and conditions or any other equivalent instrument governing the use of its products and/or services incorporating any Product.
- 3.5. Storage policy. To the extent storage is explicitly specified in any Product documentation, Output and/or Customer Content, as applicable, will be stored subject to the duration and storage space limitations set forth therein. In all other cases, Output and Customer Content are not stored. Output and Customer Content will be automatically deleted within 30 days after the termination of this Agreement. Customer may delete Output and Customer Content at any time.

applicable data protection laws.

- 3.7. Publicity. Customer agrees that Bria may use Customer's name and logo for marketing and public relations purposes, including but not limited to Bria's website, press releases, case studies, and other marketing materials.
- 3.8. Output marking. Customer will ensure that any Output generated by any Software or a Derivative is marked in accordance with any applicable law as "AI Generated" using such standards and/or watermarking techniques pursuant to industry standards or any applicable law and shall not strip any Output of any Product from any marking applied by Bria.

4. Confidentiality

- 4.1. Existing NDA. If the parties have entered into a non-disclosure agreement, those terms apply instead of this confidentiality section.
- 4.2. Confidential Information. "Confidential Information" is non-public information in any form that is marked as "confidential" or that a reasonable person should understand is confidential. Each party remains responsible for the use of Confidential Information by its Representatives. A party must promptly notify the other party if it discovers any unauthorized use or disclosure.
 - 4.4. Disclosure required by law. A party may disclose the other's Confidential Information if required by law, but only after it notifies the other party (if legally permissible) so that the other party can seek a protective order.

The party being defended must provide the defending party with all requested assistance, information, and authority. The defending party will then reimburse the other party for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses it incurs in providing such assistance. This section describes the parties' sole remedies and entire liability for such claims, subject to the limitations set out in Section 7 ("Limitation of liability"). Bria's defense and indemnity obligations set forth in this Agreement shall not apply if a claim is arising from the combination of any Product or Output with Customer's product or service or Customer Content or modification of any Product or Output by the Customer, if such claim would not have arisen but for such combination or modification.
- 6.2. Indemnity by Bria.
- 6.2.1. Product indemnity. Bria will defend and hold Customer harmless against any third-party claim that a Product used in accordance with this Agreement, misappropriates a trade secret or infringes a patent, copyright, trademark, or other proprietary right of a third party. If Bria is unable to resolve a claim of misappropriation or infringement of a Product, it may, at its option, either (i) modify or replace the Product with a functional equivalent, or (ii) terminate Customer's license and refund any license fees, including amounts paid in advance for any usage period after the termination date. Bria will not be liable for any claims or damages due to Customer's continued use of a Product after being notified to stop due to a third-party claim.
- 6.2.2. Training data and Output indemnity. Bria will defend and hold Customer harmless against any third-party claim that any training data used to train any Product, or any Output generated by any Product used in accordance with this Agreement, infringes copyright, moral right, trademark, or other proprietary right of a third party or violates any right of privacy or right of publicity.

For clarity, for the use of the Products only by way of remote API calls shall not require the use of such Attribution Agent. To the extent the applicable Order prescribes consumption fees and the Attribution Agent is required, such fees shall be calculated solely based on the record of the Attribution Agent, which shall be deemed final. In cases where the Attribution Agent is required, Customer agrees to provide Bria with a true and accurate record of the Attribution Agent within 10 days following the end of each calendar month and Bria will issue Customer an invoice based on such record. Upon reasonable notice, Bria may, at its discretion, through a third party, audit Customer's records directly related to this Agreement and Customers' use of the Foundation Models, Open Foundation Models or any Derivative, in order to verify compliance with the terms of this Agreement. If any audit reveals an underpayment to Bria of 5% or more of the amount Customer should have paid, then in addition to paying Bria the amount of the underpayment, Customer also agrees to reimburse Bria for the reasonable costs of conducting the audit. This right to audit shall survive the expiration or termination of this Agreement for a period of 3 years after the date that Customer ceases to maintain the Foundation Models, Open Foundation Models or any Derivative.

- 8.3. Late payment. If Customer fails to pay fees on time, Bria has the right to charge 2% monthly interest on past due amounts as allowed by law. Bria also has the right to charge Customer for all expenses of recovery, to terminate the applicable Order, terminate Customer's access and to take any other action at law.
- 8.4. Taxes. Customer is solely responsible for all taxes, fees, duties and governmental assessments (except for taxes based on Bria's net income) that are imposed or become due in connection with this Agreement. If any taxes are required to be withheld on payments invoiced by Bria, then the amounts due to Bria shall be increased such that Bria will receive the amount it would have received had Customer not made any such withholding.

9. Term and termination

- 9.1. Term. This Agreement and any license provided hereunder is effective and will continue for the duration set forth in the applicable Order, unless terminated earlier by a party, as described below. Except as specified otherwise in the applicable Order, the term will automatically renew for additional periods of one year each, unless terminated in writing by the Customer at least 90 days prior to the renewal date.
- 9.2. Termination for cause. Without limiting other remedies, either party may terminate this Agreement for material breach if the other party fails to cure a curable breach within a 30-day notice period. If Bria is in breach, Customer will be reimbursed for any prepaid unused fees.
- 9.3. Termination for regulatory reasons. Bria may modify, discontinue, or terminate a license to any Product in any country or jurisdiction where there is any current or future government regulation, obligation, or other requirement, that causes Bria to believe this Agreement or such Product may conflict with any such regulation, obligation, or requirement. If Bria terminates a license for regulatory reasons, Customer will receive, as its sole remedy, a reimbursement for any prepaid, unused subscription fees.
- 9.4. Implications of termination. Upon termination of this Agreement for any reason: (i) all licenses granted under this Agreement will terminate immediately, (ii) Customer shall cease immediately the access, use, distribution or marketing of the Products or any Derivative thereof, (iii) Customer will immediately delete all Software and any Derivative thereof, using then-current best practices for ensuring that it is permanently and irretrievably deleted and expunged from Customer's systems and environment and provide a written certification signed by a C-level officer certifying to the deletion thereof and Bria shall have the right to audit Customer compliance with such destruction obligation, and (iv) all outstanding amounts payable under this Agreement will become immediately due and payable (provided, however, that Customer has not terminated this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.2 above).
